The Chief Economist's Analysis [a focus on SONATEL SN]

At the end of the first half of 2019, SONATEL achieved a turnover of 542 billion FCFA, up by 7% compared to the first half of 2018. The growth of the turnover results from the good operational performances registered by the group over the period, particularly in terms of mobile data (+62.9%) and orange money service (+34.2%). Regarding the net result, it is down by 9.9% compared to the first half of 2018, standing at 93.8 billion FCFA at the end of June 2019. SONATEL justifies this decrease by the increase in depreciation charge and financial expenses. On the stock market, in 2019, SONATEL's share price increased significantly (+ 26.88%) over the first two months of the year, supported mainly by the announcement of the distribution of a dividend for the 2018 financial year quite attractive. The share price stood at 20,300 FCFA at the end of February 2019 and remained close to this level until May 9, 2019. It subsequently declined, in connection with the distribution of dividends. It stands at 17,000 FCFA at the end of this week (+6.25% compared to its level at the start of the year 2019). For the second half of 2019, the group intends to improve its performance by strengthening its growth drivers, in other words mobile data and mobile financial services. However, the regulatory and fiscal measures in some countries where the SONATEL group is established could weigh on its results.

Market News

□[SUB-SAHARAN AFRICA]: The quality of the policies and institutions in Africa's 38 International Development Association eligible countries has not improved in average in 2018, according to the World Bank's annual Country Policy and Institutional Assessment (CPIA). Indeed, the average CPIA score of these countries remained unchanged in 2018, at 3.1 (out of 6) as in 2017. However, the regional average score masks significant divergence in country performance across policy areas. Most notably, macroeconomic management weakened in 2018; while the policies for social inclusion strengthened with gains in gender equality, health and education, and equity of public resource use. Rwanda continues to top the CPIA rating in Africa with a score of 4.0, followed by Cabo Verde (3.8) and Kenya, Senegal, and Uganda (all at 3.7)

□[CEMAC]: According to a recent report published by the Bank of Central African States, the economic situation of Central African Economic and Monetary Community (CEMAC) countries will continue to rebound in 2019, although at a slightly slower pace than expected; the economic growth rate is forecast at 3%, against an initial forecast of 3.2% and 1.6% in 2018. Under the pressure of domestic demand and taxation, inflation could start rising again, to 2.5% in 2019, compared to 2.2% in 2018. The projected surplus of the fiscal balance, base commitments, including grants, would stand at +0.4% of GDP in 2019, against +0.1% of GDP in 2018, thanks mainly to increased oil revenues. The economic growth of the CEMAC should rise to 3.1% in 2020, then to 3.2% in 2021, in relation with the performance of the non-oil sector, particularly agriculture, manufacturing, construction and services.
