The Chief Economist's Analysis [a focus on PALMCI]

PALMCI, a subsidiary of the Ivorian group specialized in agro-industrial sector, SIFCA, and leader of the palm oil market in Côte d'Ivoire, ended the first half of 2016 with a modest increase in activity. The company's turnover stands at 71.5 billion FCFA at the end of June 2016 against 70.4 billion FCFA at the end of June 2015, an increase of 2%. This rise was due to a 5% increase in the volume of crude palm oil delivered, an increase in the average selling price of palm kernel oil by 9% and a fall in the average selling price of crude palm oil of 4%. The latter could be related to the decrease of 1.17 FCFA in the purchase price per kilogram of palm seeds to the producer in Côte d'Ivoire. Driven by a slightly higher turnover in a context of cost optimization, the company's operating profit as well as the net profit increased by 34% and 39% respectively in the first half of 2016 compared to the same period in 2015. On the stock market, the PALMCI share price rose by 8.25% on 25 November 2016 compared to the beginning of 2016, the strongest increase in the "Agriculture" sector. This good price dynamics reflects investor confidence in the company. For the second half of 2016, the stability of the anticipated production by PALMCI and higher business results of the company will positively affect the price of the stock. In addition, the company's resilience capacity and SIFCA group support give investors considerable confidence in a highly competitive environment.
